Focus: Speaking/Vocabulary

Spoken English: Uncertainty

1 Read the following short dialogues to see how you can 'feel uncertain' about something.

☞ Do you think he's gonna make it?

I have my doubts, I must confess.

☞ I think we should ask Mark's ex-girlfriend to come to the party, too.

Ok, I don't know what you think is gonna come of it, though.

☞ He is in love with her. Head over heels in love!

But how can you be so sure?

☞ We must go and see the teacher, Frank.

Are you sure that is such a good idea?

☞ I've made up my mind. I'm leaving Susan.

Are you sure you know what you're going and why you're doing it?

☞ Do you think we still have a chance to make the deadline?

Well, yeah, but I have my reservations about parts of his plan.

2 Now translate the Hungarian parts of the following dialogues with a word or an expression from exercise 1 (try to do it without looking back).

☞ Do you think he's gonna make it?

I vannak kétségeim _____, I must confess.

☞ I think we should ask Mark's ex-girlfriend to come to the party, too.

Ok, I don't know mit gondolsz, mi fog kisülni ebből _____, though.

☞ He is in love with her. Head over heels in love!

But hogy lehetsz ennyire biztos benne _____?

☞ We must go and see the teacher, Frank.

Biztos vagy benne _____, hogy that is such a good idea?

☞ I've made up my mind. I'm leaving Susan.

Are you sure you know what you're doing és hogy miért csinálod _____?

☞ Do you think we still have a chance to make the deadline?

Well, yeah, but megvannak a fenntartásaim _____ about parts of his plan.
